STANDARD OIL TRUST IS ILLEGAL

Supreme Court Orders Dissolution.

SUSTAINS SHERMAN ACT

Decision Anxiously Awaited by World of Business

SIX MONTHS FOR DISSOLUTION

Distinction Now Will be Between Good and Bad Trusts.

Washington, May 16.—The supreme court of the United States ordered the dissolution of the Standard Oil company of New Jersey. In connection with this decree it also handed down its interpretation of the Sherman anti-trust law, long awaited by an anxious business world.

To accomplish this gigantic dissolution the court sets a period of six months. This is an extension of five months over the time allotted in the dissolution decree of the lower court. The decree of the circuit court was modified by the supreme court in only one other particular. The supreme court orders that the Standard Oil company and its subsidiaries shall not be excluded from interstate commerce pending the putting of its house in order.

The decision of the court in regard to the general interpretation of the Sherman anti-trust law was awaited with greater anxiety by the business world than the finding of fact in the Standard Oil case. The court holds that it is necessary to distinguish between "Reasonable" and "Unreasonable" restraint of trade as covered by the Sherman anti-trust law.

The effect of the decision as viewed by distinguished lawyers, is to insert the word "unreasonable" into the general prohibition in the anti-trust law against combinations in restraint of trade. The supreme court thus eliminated the uncertainty with which all business combinations regarded the Sherman anti-trust law, and in the future it will be up to the government to draw the line between good and bad trusts. The anti-trust law as construed by the court, does not apply to all combinations, contracts or acts in restraint of trade, but only to those which are shown to be unreasonable and in which the intent to form an unlawful conspiracy or monopoly can be proved or inferred.

The decision and its effect was regarded in Washington as distinctly reassuring to business.

The decision of the court was read by Chief Justice Edward Douglas White. It was unanimous, with the exception of Associate Justice Harlan's dissent. Justice Harlan's words were marked by biting sarcasm. He contended that the court had not gone far enough and he objected to the words of the chief justice in construing the scope and purpose of the anti-trust act. He declared that the court had rendered an opinion that reversed an unbroken line of decisions for fifteen years past. He criticised the corporation lawyers who, failing to get an amendment to laws through congress, came to the United States courts for relief. He added with manifest sarcasm that it was becoming fashionable to amend the constitution and the federal statutes by judicial constructions.

It was the interpretation of the Sherman law so as to apply only to unreasonable combinations to which Associate Justice Harlan objected so vigorously.

Attorney General Wickesham and other officers of the administration, do not, however, share the gloom that seemed to enshroud Associate Justice Harlan. The attorney general and Frank B. Kellogg, who was special counsel for the government in the preparation and trial of the case, declared themselves greatly pleased over the decision. The attorney general in a public statement, holds that sub-

Emperor, Empress and Princess Victoria Louise Will Be Present at Unveiling of the Memorial to Queen Victoria.

London, May 16.—Emperor William, Empress Auguste Victoria and Princess Victoria Louise, who had reached Sheerness on the imperial yacht Hohenzollern, entered London and were welcomed with enthusiasm by Englishmen.

Before leaving Sheerness Emperor William received a welcome from the aeronautic branch of the British navy, two aeroplanes piloted by lieutenants flying over the Hohenzollern.

The German royal guests arrived for a week's visit to King George V. and Queen Mary, but primarily to be present at the unveiling of the national memorial to Queen Victoria, the emperor's grandmother.

King George and Queen Mary and other members of the British royal family met the visitors at the Victoria station. All were driven in state to Buckingham palace. The king, the emperor and the prince of Wales occupied the first carriage and Queen Mary, the empress, Princess Victoria Louise and Princess Mary the second.

Enormous crowds thronged the route up Grosvenor place and Constitution hill to the palace. Cheers greeted the party throughout the drive.

MUCH TALKING CHARACTERIZES FIRST MEETING

The first regular meeting of the new council was held Monday evening. Mayor Towner presided and Ald. Moore, Cornwell, Stevens, Thomas, Lewis, Huston, Worden were present. The meeting throughout was characterized by much debating on the part of the new councilmen. One feature which was particularly noticeable was the predominating number of democratic committeemen.

Mayor Towner in a short opening address assured the council that the work on the new Congress street bridge would not be started till a proper understanding was made between the city and the D. J. C. Ry. He called the attention of the council to the East Cross street paving, mentioning the fact that it had never been completed and that a suitable top dressing should be put on and kept wet, also that the remainder of the street to Huron should have the dressing renewed. He recommended the paving of Cross street in the near future on account of the large amount of traffic that now seems centered on that street. He also recommended the erection of a good bath house either by the city or by private capital.

The petition of A. W. Phillips to erect an electric sign in front of the Hawkins House, was, on motion of Ald. Worden referred to the city marshal.

A short address was given during the session by John Maguire of Detroit, a tree dentist, the subject of which was "The proper treatment of shade trees and other trees on the streets of the city." He set forth the needs of the trees in Ypsilanti very briefly and at suggestion on the part of the mayor he will as some future date take up the subject more fully when he will consider the remedies and the compensation of treating those of the shade trees which are diseased and in need of consistent care.

SCOUTS URGED NOT TO LEAVE HOMES MAY 30

The Boy Scouts of the state are so much appreciated in their home localities that a strong protest against their leaving town upon Memorial Day has been thrust upon those having charge of the parade and tournament in Detroit. As a result the program has been set for Saturday, June 3rd. Realizing that some of the scouts have ordered their uniforms with the expectation of going to Detroit upon Memorial Day, and there being some uncertainty whether it is desirable to accept for the later date, our clothiers have been asked to hold back their order until tomorrow (Wednesday) morning. Boys wishing to do so may thus have a chance to countermand their order over the phone. However, there will be so much use for the uniform from this date that it is hoped that all will allow their order to stand.

The Executive Committee met this afternoon and decided to substitute for the Detroit trip an excursion to the chain of lakes northwest of Ann Arbor, the same to be held upon Memorial Day. It is expected that all boys who are in scout uniform will be taken free of expense to them, given a launch trip through the lakes from Lakeland, and opportunity to fish and swim and engage in other scout activities. All scouts are requested to order uniforms before going off of school in the morning if not right down to brass tacks I ain't.

Tickets can be secured at Spangler's Drug Store, Beal's Drug Store, and the Normal College office.

Honest Confession.

The census enumerator was confronted at the door by a meek and apologetic little man. "Who's the head of the house?" asked the census man. "From a strictly legal stand-point," replied the little man, "I suppose I am, but when you get right down to brass tacks I ain't."

PHOTOS SHOWING MEN MARCHING IN PARADE DEMANDING VOTES FOR WOMEN, AND GIRL ENTHUSIASTS

New York, May 16.—Owing to the approach of the closing of the New York state legislature the members of the suffragist movement have begun a spirited crusade of national proportions to impress on the legislators the importance of their demand that women should be allowed to vote. The leaders of the movement here have rallied to their support women from a score of states in the Union, including women who have voted in the various states where they have been given the suffrage.

The mammoth parade down Fifth avenue in which about 4,000 men and women marched has aroused wide comment. The suffragists believe that this demonstration will impress the legislators favorably and gain votes for them in the senate and assembly judiciary committees, which have the custody of the bills striking the word "male" from the state constitution. Tuesday, May 9, a large delegation of the paraders went to Albany to speak before the committees, carrying with them the banners displayed in the procession. A notable feature of the procession was the men's division, in which 300 men, many of them prominent citizens, marched. Two young women generally described as being of unusual beauty and attractiveness form one of the assets of the suffrage movement. They are Miss Reberta Hill of New Zealand and Miss Inez Milholland of New York, society favorite, and are shown in the accompanying illustration carrying the banner they displayed in the suffragist parade. Miss Hill is holding the banner poles and Miss Milholland is at her right in the picture.

Laredo, Tex., May 16.—Reports from Saltillo indicate that the insurrectos are growing stronger in that vicinity and that an attack on the city is imminent. A company of federal troops stationed there has been annihilated. The troops had been driven into a cotton mill and the insurrectos kept up a steady fire on them for six hours. Then the insurrectos apparently retreated, and the federal troops, sixty strong, started in pursuit. Only a small portion of the insurrectos had retreated, and when the federal troops left their cover all but four of them were shot down. Saltillo is in the state of Coahuila, 550 miles south-east of Juarez. It is near the battlefield of Buena Vista, where General Taylor defeated the Mexicans and captured Santa Anna in 1847. The population of the town is about 25,000. A famous old cathedral is one of the landmarks of the place.

STRENGTHENERS OF CONFIDENCE IN OUR COURTS.

Probably two of the largest legal battles have been consummated within the past two days that have been up for consideration since the times of the Dred Scott decision. The Supreme Court of the United States has announced within the past two days two practically unanimous opinions, sustaining in the one case the contention of organized labor in the famous Buck's Stove and Range case and the contention of the government in the famous Standard Oil trust case.

The advance announcement as reported states that the Supreme Court of the United States holds that the Standard Oil company is a monopoly in restraint of trade within the terms of the Sherman Anti-Trust law and that this giant corporation must be dissolved within six months. This on its face certainly looks like a distinct victory for the people, and we hope the decision may not go to pieces upon closer analysis and practical application.

There is one statement reported as contained in the decision to the effect that corporations whose contracts are "not reasonably restrictive of competition" are not affected. We are left to judge of the judicial interpretation intended to be carried by this phraseology. But it would seem that the court means that corporations whose operations are only reasonably restrictive of competition were not intended to be interfered with by the Sherman Anti-Trust law. We do not see how the courts could possibly define in advance just what constitutes a reasonable restriction of trade and what unreasonable. This will have to be left for the courts to decide when the facts in any particular case are presented to it.

The case of the Buck's Stove and Range company was one which interested organized labor primarily. The Supreme Court of the District of Columbia, as we recall, entered an order requiring organized labor to discontinue a boycott on the products of the Buck's Stove and Range company.

This restraining order was issued pending the final disposition of legal proceedings then in process of determination in the same court. Mr. Gompers, Mr. Mitchell and Mr. Morrison, president, vice-president and secretary, respectively, of the American Federation of Labor, disregarded the terms of the restraining order and did not remove the boycott, but on the other hand, as we recall, admitted that they recommended its continuance. They were arrested and placed in jail for contempt of court. They were subsequently released on bail and have been out since. The Supreme Court of the United States holds that their action was civil contempt but not criminal contempt.

In other words it was contempt punishable by fine, but not contempt punishable by imprisonment in the first instance. The courts of course could impose as heavy a fine as they felt disposed and we see no way in which they could be legally prevented from enforcing the payment of the fine or, in the event of its non-payment, the alternative of imprisonment for a limited time.

But the one patent gain for all in the rendition of these two decisions is its manifest tendency to disarm the criticism that the courts are in the control of the corporations and that the people have lost touch and sympathy with them. This is the greatest possible gain which could come from the handing down of these decisions, and if organized labor will but maintain its dignity and keep enthroned its best conscience and judgment and sense of justice in the pending dynamite cases now so prominently before the people and not permit its leaders to compromise the position of the rank and file, then these decisions will be of far-reaching importance. If they will exert their best efforts to see that all the evidence is presented to the courts in California and let the people know all the facts and not allow any important fact to be smothered, they can rely on the fairness of the people and the justice of the people's court, based upon existing law, to redress their grievances. But if cold-blooded rascals have gotten into their organization, as they do sometimes creep into the best of organizations, and have actually done the dastardly deeds charged against them, the standing of union labor will be measured by their attitude of sympathy or contempt for the criminal within their gates if he be proven to be such. And until he is proven to be such, or to be not such, their attitude for their own sake should be a non-committal and judicial one.

The Harshness of Napoleon.

In the service and in the course with his officers he was cold, almost repellent, severe and inflexibly just. One day Gen. Guyon Saint-Cyr, afterwards marshal, appeared at the emperor's morning audience at the Tuilleries. Napoleon said quietly to him: "You come from Naples, general?" "Yes, sire, I relinquished my command to Marshal Bermon, whom your majesty sent to relieve me." "And no doubt you have leave of absence from the minister of war?" "No, your majesty; but I had nothing else to do in Naples." "Unless you are on your way to Naples within two hours, you will be shot on the plain of Grenelle at 12 o'clock precisely," said the emperor, returning his watch to his pocket. Kielland, "Napoleon's Men and Methods."

GRACEFUL AND ATTRACTIVE WOMEN.

If you are thin and want to be plump; if you have wrinkles in your face that you are not proud of, if your skin is sallow or subject to pimples or blackheads take MI-O-NA stomach tablets for two weeks and notice the change.

Nine tenths of the thin people are thin because the stomach is not active; it is not mixing thoroughly with the natural digestive juices the food put into it, and consequently is not extracting from the blood to distribute to every part of the body. If the stomach does not do its work properly the nourishment in the food you eat is passed along without giving to the body any flesh building elements.

MI-O-NA stomach tablets quickly build up the stomach so that it extracts from the food all the elements necessary to form good solid flesh.

If you are thin try a two weeks' treatment of MI-O-NA stomach tablets; two with each meal will work wonders.

MI-O-NA stomach tablets are guaranteed to cure indigestion, acute or chronic, or money back. Sold by Duane Spalsbury and druggists everywhere, at 50 cents a box.

RICE GROWING.

Northern readers of these notes will be interested in how rice is raised in the southern states. A loam soil with a good mixture of clay is considered best suited to this cereal, while the other conditions which make good rice land are possibility of irrigation, complete drainage and solidity at harvest time to permit the operation of heavy machinery. Rice land is prepared for the seed as in the case of other cereals, and the best results are had with the drill, from one and a half to two bushels of seed being used per acre. When the rice plants are five or six inches high the field is flooded with water to a depth of from one to six inches. The water is kept on the field until the rice gets in the dough, which is from ten to twenty days before it is ripe. The field is then drained by open ditches and allowed to dry, after which the rice is cut, shocked and threshed, as in the case of wheat or oats. In the last named step the seed of the cylinders is reduced to prevent cracking or breaking the grain. The rice is known as "paddy" as it comes from the machine and is then taken to the mill, where it is hulled and polished.

IMPROVE POULTRY STOCK.

It costs no more to keep fifty Plymouth Rocks, fifty Lezborns or 50 White Wyandottes than it does to keep fifty birds of a dozen breeds and mixtures. It is almost as cheap to get started in pure bred poultry as it is to use the eggs from mongrel stock, and the returns later will be much greater. Do not set eggs which are picked up, hit or miss, about the barn. Select a few of the best hens and keep them separate for breed stock.

Cruel Misunderstanding Disrupts Matrimonial Plans of Count and Chicago Girl.

The sudden death in New York of Sir Clifton Robinson, "the traction king," was being discussed in a New York club.

"Sir Clifton Robinson," said a New York man, "built miles and miles of street railways in this country. He liked this country. He especially liked our young men."

"I once heard him say that our young men were not mercenary—that it was practically unknown for an American young man to marry for money. But a young foreigner, he declared, would marry his grandmother if there was a hundred a year in it."

"A Chicago woman on a liner, he said, once remarked:

"Yes, Mabel was engaged to be married to a handsome young count she met in Budapest last summer; but there was a cruel misunderstanding."

"Indeed, how was that?" asked another woman.

"The count," was the reply, "understood her father was a multimillionaire."

When the Roses Waken.

When the roses waken
And the wood doves coo
And the sunbeams shew
Tran the valley through
In my heart a longing
Wakes and calls for you.

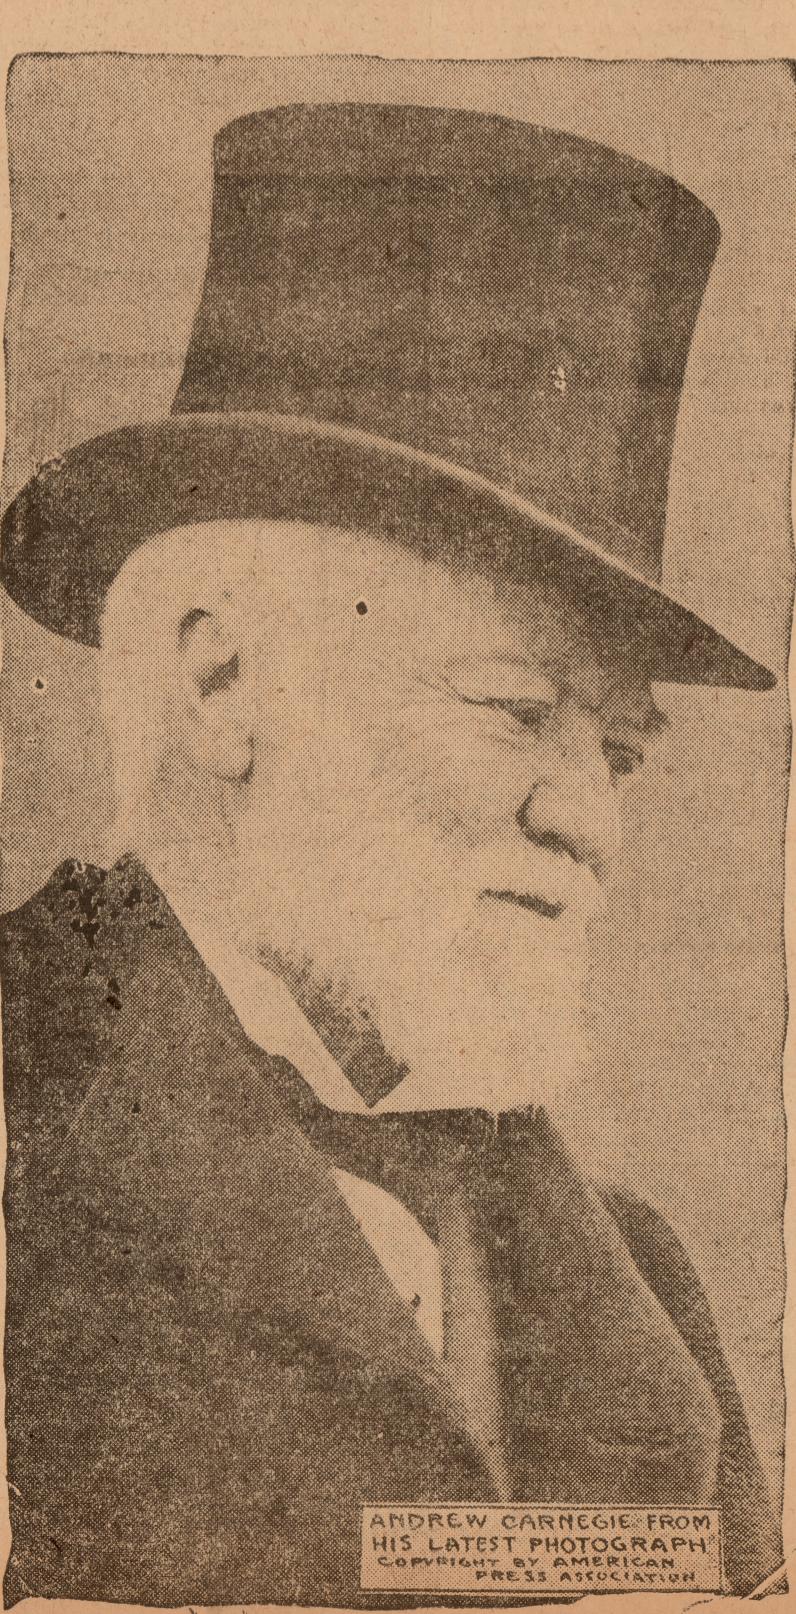

When the green is glowing
In the violet bed
And the robins chatter
In the leaves o'erhead
Then my heart goes pleading
For a dream long dead.

Strange when time is running
Such a happy race,
Sun and summer crowding
All about the place,
How the soul goes sobbing
For an absent face!
